

Visiting fellowships for young scholars

The Academy of Sociology supports young researchers in their academic careers and offers funding for research stays. The visiting scholarships are designed to foster research exchanges with other scholars both abroad and in Germany or the respective country of scholarly affiliation. With this fellowship program, we address young researchers who are committed members of the AS – with already existing research contacts and affiliations to German analytical-empirical sociology. Individuals who join the AS just when applying for the fellowship must demonstrate credibly that they intend to become a committed member who contributes to the AS well beyond the duration of the planned visiting fellowship.

The grants cover travel and accommodation costs with up to 2,000 EUR, considering the duration of stay.

We are now accepting applications for research visits taking place in 2025.

Please send your application by January 31, 2025 to fellowships@akademie-soziologie.de.

Decisions on grants will be made by the Board of the Academy of Sociology. Applicants will be notified within four weeks after the application deadline.
